

HOW TO APPLY FOR DOCTORAL STUDY IN APPLIED LINGUISTICS

Friday, October 18, 2024
10:00 a.m.–12:30 p.m.

An information session for prospective applicants sponsored by the Department of Applied Linguistics at Penn State

Join us for:

- Advice about preparing your application from the Director of Graduate Studies
- A message from the Chief Diversity Officer for Graduate Education
- A faculty panel discussion on research
- An informal Q&A session with current doctoral students

All students who meet the requirements for admission outlined on our website are invited to attend. Penn State Applied Linguistics aims to recruit students who are familiar with the experience of groups historically underrepresented in higher education. We wish to recruit students who bring diverse perspectives derived from their linguistic, cultural, gender-related, geographic, or socioeconomic backgrounds, contributing to the richness of the graduate student community.

Register for Zoom

Please register here or scan the QR code below to receive the Zoom link

